19. A brother offended is more unyielding than a strong city, and quarreling is like the bars of a castle.